Re: Western Camp Services

To Whom It May Concern:

In my previous position at Western Lakota Energy Services, I had the privilege of using Western Camp Services on several of our rigs. I never regret the decision I made recommending Western, and was told numerous times by our field representatives that this was the best camp and catering company that we had had for a number of seasons.

Western's attention to detail, fairness and integrity was right in line with our own business practices, which only made our business and customer relationships stronger.

My congratulations to everyone at Western and keep up the great work!

Sincerely,
